

WEEK 27: GOSPEL DISCUSSION GUIDE

1. Share with the group the best news you have ever received.
2. What do you think of when you hear the word gospel?
3. Share examples of people who have presented the gospel well. What made it effective?
4. Summarize what Mark Moore defined as gospel or “good news.”
5. What is significant about the term “good news” being transformed from a political term to a religious term?
6. How do you think the political realm would have reacted to Mark’s use of a “good news singular”? How would the culture have reacted?
7. What is a modern-day equivalent to “good news” as Mark Moore described it?
8. How does the modern political realm view the story of Jesus? Do you feel that they see it as “good news?”
9. How does a modern presentation of the Gospel need to be framed to be effective? List what has been done in the past that is no longer useful and then list the elements or methods of what would connect with people today.

ACTION STEPS

As a group, formulate a simple statement of the gospel that is less than 30 seconds and that people in our modern culture would understand. You can then use this statement as a tool when evangelizing.
